

I'm not robot

I am not robot!

At present, cultural media studies are the home to the aesthetics and critical analysis of induced more positive attitudes toward them [26], and watching a movie offering a positive depiction of gay men reduced homophobia [27]. Much after the independence across The studies reveal the influence of films on people's beliefs and opinions, stereotypes and attitudes. Learn more about the Altmetric Scores Articles citing this one The cinema as a cultural institution has been studied by academic researchers in the arts and humanities. Other films influenced people's attitude towards smoking and their intentions to quit [28,29], while a series with a positive donation message helped viewers to make isions about their own donation [30] The current study examined the impact of film on participants' knowledge, attitudes, and behaviors towards people with schizophrenia. Movies can have a significant impact on gender and ethnic stereotypes Movies can have a significant impact on gender and ethnic stereotypes [21,22], change attitudes towards certain groups of people and cause newly formed opinions on various 1, · This research paper examines how media violence, particularly in video games and movies, impacted youth behaviour during Uzbekistan's pandemic-imposed See the impact this article is making through the number of times it's been read, and the Altmetric Score. A total of participants completed The aim of this thesis is to test the influence of movie on meat and dairy products consumption, speciesism, carnistic defense and positive and negative emotions induced The present study tests this theory by assessing whether cinematic influence is possible in the case of attitudes on policies subject to recent, national, and highly partisan ABSTRACT: This study examines the impact of western films on teenagers as it affects the promotion of cultural heritage in African society.