

I'm not robot

I am not robot!

As you read, highlight evidence of the following three democratic ideas. Learn about the history, meaning, and significance of the document that ended the colonies' dependence on Great Britain. The Declaration of Independence states the principles on which our government, and our identity as Americans, are based. The US Declaration of Independence is the official document that was written to declare the Declaration of Independence. The Want, Will, and Hopes of the People. The Want, Will, and Hopes of the People. When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them; a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

Note: The following text is a transcription of the Stone Engraving of the parchment Declaration of Independence (the document on display in the Rotunda at the National Archives Museum.) The spelling and punctuation reflects the original. View the engrossed copy of the Declaration of Independence, printed by John Dunlap, and the transcript of the Stone Engraving of the parchment document.

Number the highlighted text using the A Declaration by the representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled.

text Rough Draft Congress's Draft Compare Dunlap Broadside Image Scroll down to download your free PDF copy of the Declaration of Independence. Read the text below. Read the full text of the Declaration of Independence, written by Thomas Jefferson and approved by the Second Continental Congress in 1776. Learn about the historical context they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerc as FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES, Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which they shall judge necessary and proper. The Declaration of Independence. Unlike the other founding documents, the Declaration of Independence is not legally binding, but it is powerful. The Declaration contained sections: a general statement of natural rights theory and the purpose of government; a list of grievances against the British King; and a declaration that the colonies are now free and independent states, and that as free and independent states, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce,— And for the support of this Declaration, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.

Declaration of Independence: A Transcription.