

The new tenants are the brother-in-law and sister of Anne's former fiance, Captain Frederick Wentworthmodest drawing-back of youth; and, in one of their spring excursions to London, when Elizabeth was in her first bloom, Mr Elliot had been forced When Anne Elliot's status-obsessed father sends the family into debt, they must rent out their ancestral country estate and move to Bath.