

I'm not robot

I am not robot!

There are different classes for STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE: Fire extinguishers. The proper use of a fire extinguisher is listed below. However, not all extinguishers are the same. Identify the location of all fire extinguishers within your facility and train employees on extinguisher parts and Today's most widely used type of fire extinguisher is the multipurpose dry chemical that is effective on Class A, B and C fires. Use the 'PASS' Method: Pull Also, on a class A fire it creates a barrier between the fuel and the oxygen Using a Fire Extinguisher Safely. The proper use of a fire extinguisher is listed below. (Please review the following steps before contacting your local fire department. Note: These instructions are for the use of adults and responsible students in an emergency) Introduction Employees are never expected to fight a fire. Position yourself at a safe distance from the fire (e.g., 8 feet when using an ABC-type unit, 6 feet when using a CO2 unit. When in place, the pin keeps the handle from being pressed and How to Use a Fire Extinguisher. Ordinary dry chemical is for Class B & C fires only Dry Chemical is the most widely used type of fire extinguisher and is also recognized as a multi-purpose ABC fire extinguisher. Note that the US Fire Administration does not recommend the use of fire extinguishers from untrained persons.) Not being prepared in-case of a fire can be detrimental to your life and for those around you • Provide specific guidelines for using portable fire extinguishers. This agent also works by creating a barrier between the oxygen element and the fuel element on Class A fires. Identify the location of all fire extinguishers within your facility and train employees on extinguisher parts and operation How to Use a Fire Extinguisher. Position yourself at a safe distance from the fire (e.g., 8 feet when using an ABC-type Portable fire extinguishers can be extremely effective in combating small fires within the workplace. The following steps should be followed when responding to incipient stage fire Sound the fire alarm and call the fire department, if appropriate Identify a safe evacuation path before approaching the fire How to Use a Fire Extinguisher. Fire Extinguishers There are four basic elements to a fire o Types of Fires Letters, colors and symbols on fire extinguishers represent what types of fires they will extinguish. to • What conditions must be met when iding when to use a fire extinguisher; How to use the PASS method to extinguish a fire; How to inspect, maintain and store fire How to operate a fire extinguisher Pull the Pin. Pull pin at the top of the extinguisher, breaking the seal. Only employees that have had in-person training with a fire extinguisher should consider fighting a fire. The agent works by interrupting the chemical chain reaction. Before you begin to fight • Provide specific guidelines for using portable fire extinguishers.