

I'm not robot

I am not robot!

Autocratic leaders typically make choices based on their own ideas and judgments, and rarely accept advice from followers. A successful leader will be able to use a variety of leadership styles, depending on the situation, to achieve the best results for their business. Based on the findings, it was recommended among others that principals should be trained on the use of leadership styles as well as improving on the use of autocratic and democratic leadership styles.

Leadership Style of Michael O'Leary: Michael O'Leary has many unique and mixed characteristics of the leadership and management. Autocratic leaders typically make choices based on their own ideas and judgments and rarely accept advice from followers. The literature review is on autocratic leadership style as an obstacle to success in academic libraries and other institutions where it is practiced. This leadership style involves clear direction, unilateral decision-making, and strict control over all aspects of organizational activities.

Abstract. Leadership styles reflect the behaviours and attitudes of a leader towards their team members and influence the organisational culture, productivity and performance of a business. New challenges and emerging needs require Autocratic Leadership. Autocratic leadership, also known as authoritarian leadership, is a leadership style characterized by individual control over all decisions and little input from group members, and other institutions where it is practiced. Leaders in institutions of higher education have been observed to be exhibiting autocratic leadership style. Each of these styles is commonly used in the 21st century include: the Great Man theory, Trait theory, Process leadership theory, Style and Behavioral theory, Transformational, Transactional and Laissez Faire leadership theory.

INTRODUCTION Cons of autocratic leadership. The literature review is on autocratic leadership style as an obstacle to success in academic libraries. 1. The research findings revealed that the overall level of leadership styles used (autocratic, democratic, and laissez-faire) was high at a mean of (72%), the level of quality audits was Leadership Styles. Although the autocratic leadership style is most detested, it is ideal for making vital decisions (Bodla et al.). This is in line with (Bhargavi & Yaseen,) who state that an autocratic style is needed and even very important to be applied if the leader is facing a crisis or an urgent situation. Autocratic leadership is generally understood to reflect a particular style of leadership where power and authority are concentrated in the leader, whereas authoritarian leadership reflects a domineering style that generally PDF Leadership in sports is a collaborative, an autocratic leadership style, The characteristics of an instructional coach who provides them with more positive feedback and social Democratic leadership is explored firstly through the question of the conduct or style of leadership that is, through thinking about democratic leadership as behaviour 'that influences people in a manner consistent with and/or conducive to basic democratic principles and processes' (Gastil.) The autocratic leadership style is characterized by individual control over all decisions and little input from group members.